“ Crystal our time together brought me such a happiness and joy I've never known before. When we decided that we were going to try this relationship thing out I came to you a broken man. Over time you slowly put the pieces back together and made me whole again and for that I am eternally grateful.

You and I are so much alike but different enough to be unique. You have always been and will always be an amazing woman to me. I'm going to miss our deep conversations we would often have about our life experiences from childhood until now. Our lives paralleled each others in so many ways. You saved me from myself, when we met I was just going through the motions of living. Meeting you was the best thing that has ever happened to me. No one in my life has ever made me as happy as you do, I finally felt there was a reason. We have physically known each other for 7 years but you provided me with a lifetime of LOVE and happiness, I pray I did the same for you. Moving here to be with you was the single most important decision I have ever made and not for a second have I ever regretted it.

Kitten me, Katy and Cubbie will forever be indebted to you for the LOVE, HAPPINESS and zest of life you shared with us. I LOVE YOU and please keep watch over me until we meet again in paradise. You'll know me when I get there, I'll be wearing my Cubs jersey.

“ We will miss Crystal very much! I remember as a young girl I would be so excited when Crystal would be at our family Christmas parties. I always wanted to hang out with my older cousin and looked up to her. Over the years life has taken us in different directions but my love and admiration for still remained. She was a beautiful soul that always gave a smile regardless of what hardship she was enduring. She truly cared about others happiness and was compassionate beyond words. You will be dearly miss Crystal and heaven gained a beautiful angel the day you passed. I know you will keep looking down on your Mom and family. And may they find the comfort they need in this tragic time.

“ Crystal.....oh ...Crystal, I love you so much! I can't believe your gone. I miss you so bad already. You were always so proud of me being your brother. I could always see it in your face when you talked about me. It made me feel so good to know how much you loved me. Thank you Crissy for everything you've done for me. I love you and you will forever be missed. But it looks like God needed you sooner than we would have ever thought. Do good work in heaven while you walk beside the Angel's. You're forever in my heart!
